

DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURE

This disciplinary procedure is designed to establish the facts quickly and to deal with the matter fairly. No disciplinary action will be taken until the matter is fully investigated.

Note: Where the term “employee” is used this also means “volunteer”, as appropriate
This policy will be reviewed annually and updated if necessary.

At every stage employees/volunteers will have the opportunity to state their case and be accompanied by a supporter of their choice. An employee has the right to appeal against any disciplinary decision. The full disciplinary procedure is not available to employees with less than one year’s service. The list of rules given below is not to be regarded as an exhaustive list.

PROCEDURES FOR MISCONDUCT

1. ORAL WARNING

If conduct or performance is unsatisfactory, the employee will be given a formal verbal warning, which will be recorded. The warning will be disregarded after six months’ satisfactory service and taken out of the file.

2. WRITTEN WARNING

If the offence is serious, if there is no improvement in standards, or if a further offence occurs, a written warning will be given which will include the reason for the warning and a note that, if there is no improvement after an agreed time period, a final written warning will be given.

3. FINAL WRITTEN WARNING

If conduct or performance is still unsatisfactory, or if a further serious offence occurs within the agreed time period, a final written warning will be given making it clear that any recurrence of the offence or other serious misconduct within a period of one month will result in dismissal. All warning letters will require signed receipt by the relevant employee.

4. DISMISSAL

If there is no satisfactory improvement or if further serious misconduct occurs, the employee will be dismissed. Written confirmation of the reason for the dismissal will be given to the employee, together with confirmation of notice entitlement, if any, date of termination and right of appeal.

SUMMARY DISMISSAL

Summary Dismissal is a legal term to describe instant dismissal for an offence of such a serious nature that no notice is required. An employee or volunteer who has committed such an offence may be dismissed without notice or pay in lieu of notice.

PROCEDURE FOR GROSS MISCONDUCT

Where an employee or volunteer has committed an act of gross misconduct or is in serious breach of the conditions of employment, or volunteer policy he/she may be dismissed without notice or pay in lieu of notice, or in the case of a volunteer, stepped down immediately. In addition, if the offence is adjudged to be a criminal act it is our policy to inform the police and any other relevant authorities.

Examples of gross misconduct are as follows (the list is not exhaustive):

- Theft or damage to the organisation's property.
- Incapacity to work due to being under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs.
- Physical assault.
- Gross insubordination.
- Discrimination or harassment contrary to the organisation's equal opportunities policy.
- Any deliberate breach of the Health & Safety at Work Act 1974.
- Disclosure of confidential information.
- Defrauding or attempting to defraud the Organisation.
- Falsification or attempted falsification of Organisation's documents.

While the alleged gross misconduct is being investigated, the employee may be suspended during which time he or she will be paid the normal hourly rate.

Any decision to dismiss will be taken by the employer only after a full investigation.

Following the investigation, the employee will be required to attend a disciplinary interview with the Chair and a Board Member. Written confirmation of the reason for the dismissal will be sent to the employee and he/she will be reminded of their right to appeal.

APPEALS

An employee who wishes to appeal against any disciplinary decision or dismissal must do so, giving reasons, in writing, Streetlight UK CEO, within seven working days.

An appeal panel will be convened by the Trustees and will not include anyone involved in the original procedure. The appeal panel will hear the appeal within 15 working days. The decision of the appeal panel will be final and will be confirmed in writing.

The Organisation hopes that, in practice, it will only be necessary to resort to the use of formal disciplinary sanctions when all other attempts to improve an employee's behaviour or conduct have failed.
