STREETLIGHT UK VISION STATEMENT

Exposing the harms, ending the violence, offering fresh choices to women involved in prostitution. Changing the public narrative around prostitution and shifting the current burden of the law in England and Wales, off of victims and onto perpetrators. Streetlight UK is specifically focused on providing tangible and material pathways for women out of a lifestyle of prostitution and violence and has developed its specialism and understanding of women involved in prostitution since 2012.

We fully expect to continue to create a replicable model of specialist support, for a significant and marginalised group of vulnerable women across Sussex, Surrey and London over the next five to ten years. We will continue to do this through a partnership approach - developing our direct support work with women, alongside our training resources. Crucially we will continue to actively enable women 'survivors' to join our staff and volunteer teams, shaping our specialist support service for women involved in prostitution.
